Case Study Participation Overview and Agreement

Introduction

The Impact Factor Movie Case-Study and Impact Action Plan Workshop Program Objectives

This document summarizes the benefits, schedule, and investment required to participate in Ken McArthur's The Impact Factor Movie Case-Study and Impact Action Plan Workshop Program.

The objective of this case study program is to inspire, motivate, educate and mentor you through the process of generating a highly engaged audience of passionate fans and to assist you as you develop your brand, message, websites, product offerings, client and customer base, systems and presence as a top-level leader in your industry while allowing you to reach the income levels that you need to grow your business and develop a mass audience of devoted fans and advocates, so you can make a real difference in this noisy world.

During your participation in this workshop and case-study program, we will help you focus, strategize and provide step-by-step coaching, during a live 2 day workshop and on-line training and support to assist you in creating the results you want and deserve and to reach millions with your ideas, products and services.

Working in this case-study group will be an interactive, intense, fulfilling, "out-of-the-box," productive, exciting results-oriented, focused, supportive and fun experience. You'll gain a greater sense of purpose, focus and direction. You'll develop a specific plan of action. And, you will learn to take specific, consistent action on things that are most important to you... every day.

You are in charge. Bring your biggest personal and professional challenges, opportunities and dreams. Bring an open mind. Focus. Be ready to take your life and your business to the next level of results, joy and fulfillment.

If you are chosen to be a featured case study you must be ready to ...

- Attend a special two-day intimate workshop that will teach you the Impact Action System for creating an audience of millions for your ideas, products and services.
- Create your own Action Plan live at the event.
- Put that Action Plan into proactive action all the way to completion over a 90 day period.
- Agree to have your success story featured in my brand new book and feature length movie.

This powerful feature length documentary film is about how we all make a difference -- whether we want to or not -- and how to leverage art, science and technology to have an even greater impact.

The Impact Factor Documentary film uses powerful stories to show the strategies, tactics and systems for maximizing your impact and how those principles can create exponential impact in a noisy world.

Using vibrant, visual impact this remarkable movie tells the stories of people from all walks of life who are having an impact right now and how they reach millions with their ideas, products and services.

The movie features amazing people from all types of experiences, backgrounds, belief systems and levels of success telling their stories of impact. Some of the people you will recognize instantly, others you've never heard of, but will never forget once you've seen their impact and felt their powerful message.

Artists, scientists and experts of all kinds show how you can make your impact exponential.

People on the streets of everyday life illustrate it before your eyes.

The insights in the movie are based on the principles discussed in The Impact Manifesto: You Make A Difference Whether You Want To Or Not which was selected for publication by Seth Godin's brainchild "Change This."

Change This features manifestos from thought leaders including Seth Godin, Hugh MacLeod, Brian Solis, Jason Fried & David Heinemeier Hansson from 37signals, Guy Kawasaki, Chris Anderson, Jay Conrad Levinson, Tom Peters, Malcolm Gladwell and Robert Scoble.

This movie pulls together a life-time of research, incorporating key principles from The Impact Manifesto and my best-selling books, Impact: How To Get Noticed, Motivate Millions and Make a Difference in a Noisy World and The Impact Factor: How Small Actions Change The World, along with powerful new research to provide a foundation for creating personal impact in powerful new ways.

The Impact Factor Movie will feature ...

- Small world concepts
- Why we all matter whether we want to or not
- Stories of small things making a big difference
- How to use art, science and technology to leverage our impact to reach millions

People's reactions to your life changing moments as a case study will create powerful impact.

Right now I'm assembling a powerful group of experts, scientists, artists, "techy types" and "real people" to feature in the film and I'd love for you to be one.

Here's how that can happen ...

My friends have been asking me to share my system for getting multiple websites into the top-3000 websites in the world and I'm doing a live two-day workshop to deliver in-depth, pure content - but here's the catch.

I can only do this for just 4-8 people, because I can only feature a limited number of case study stories when we launch the film.

You see, I'm doing this private, intimate workshop as proof for my new Impact Action System to get case studies before the HUGE launch that will be the backend for my new Impact book and the feature-length documentary film, The Impact Factor.

Of course I'll feature the people I choose to be my case studies in the launch of the Impact Factor Documentary Film.

The question is who should I ask to be my case studies?

I'd really like to feature a global range of case studies in the The Impact Factor documentary film from all walks of life. In the marketplace women are seriously under-represented and I'd like to proactively make sure that doesn't happen in my case studies. I also want to reach minorities and people from all walks of life who are having an impact today and show them how to have exponential impact by using this system.

I'd like to say that this would be a money maker for you, but unfortunately the great majority of our funds are already allocated for the costs of pre-production, production, post-production and distribution.

The good news is that the movie will be produced at the highest quality level and widely distributed through multiple channels.

The other good news is that we can make it easy for you to participate.

The first step is for you to say, "Yes! I'd like to be a case study, attend the two day workshop and be featured in the movie launch!"

All people who want to be considered as case studies need to attend a two day live workshop. Unfortunately, we can't really make exceptions on this for two reasons.

1. You need to learn the Impact Action System and there is no better way to do it than through live in person training directly with me.

2. We need to document your progress from the point of learning the system right through the building of your customized Impact Action Plan, your execution of that Action Plan and ultimately to your significant success so we can tell the complete story during the launch of the movie.

Frequently Asked Questions

I'm sure you have some questions, so here are the answers to some questions that I imagine you might be wondering about right now. If you have other questions, just let me know!

1. How much will this cost me?

The total investment for the two day workshop is $1,500. There will only be 4 - 8 people in a workshop and you will receive comprehensive training on building a highly engaged audience of raving fans based on case-studies from over a decade of building multiple websites ranked in the top-3,000 sites on the Internet. All workbooks and materials are included.

During the workshop, you will develop your own custom Impact Action Plan to create your own mass audience of highly engaged raving fans over a 90 day period.

During the workshop, you will be filmed for the movie to document where you are right now, your learning of the system and the start of your journey to create significant impact.

2. When and where will the workshop be held?

Applications for the workshop will be collected and the participants chosen will be polled for their availability and preferred location. We will attempt to choose the dates and workshop location based on the group's preferences in order to accommodate as many of the selected participants as possible. We will hold more than one workshop to accommodate people who can't make the original date or location chosen.

3. Am I guaranteed to be successful and in the movie?

Unfortunately, no one can guarantee your success using the Impact Action Plan system, just like no one can guarantee your success in life, because your success is ultimately up to you and your ability and willingness to put in the effort and persistence to make things work. In life and business, results vary widely. Part of success is aptitude, some is hard work, much of it is persistence and some is just plain dumb luck! However, following the blueprint of a proven system is known to increase your chances for success.

Because we only have openings for a limited number of case studies, we only select people who we believe will be successful. We are eager to show your success and HIGHLY motivated to make sure you have every chance of powerful growth so we can highlight your success story in the launch of the movie.

4. How much time will it take?

The workshop will take two full days, but most of the other work will be an integral part of your day to day business and it may even SAVE you time.

5. How to I get started?

As soon as I get your positive response, I'll send you more information, ask you some questions about where you are right now and what you want to accomplish and we can make arrangements for you to participate in the workshop and capture your stories and ideas and so we can feature you in the film.

Step Four - Evaluate Results

We work together to evaluate your effective and timely progress towards your objectives.

Major Assumptions

The biggest opportunities for your success are setting the message; the strategies, tactics and the assessment of the various providers that you will need to execute a mass media drive for your project. Those choices are crucial to your success.

These needs will grow as the success of your marketing bears fruit and must be addressed in a step-by-step ongoing way through expert oversight and planning.

The purpose of an overall strategic communications plan is to integrate all your marketing, organizing, research, direct service, education, sales, and advocacy efforts.

By laying out a long-term overall strategy, you will be well positioned to be proactive rather than just reacting to the existing environment and it will be easier for you to shape your marketing strategy and make it more effective.

It is important to understand that while your marketing strategy will support your overall objectives and target audience, the tactics and tools are used differently.

For example, rather focusing on "blasting out your message," your social media effort will focus more on listening and conversation. Your social media strategy will be implemented in a slightly different way than other tactics in your communications plan such as email messaging, for example:

It is important that your organization have a solid Internet strategy in place to get the most of your social media efforts. This includes your web site, email marketing, and search engine optimization. Your social media strategy will support and enhance these other components. For example, if your organization launches a successful campaign on Facebook, YouTube or Twitter and it succeeds in generating buzz, you'll want to make sure that a user looking for more information will be able to find your web site on Google.

Ken McArthur has decades of experience developing strategies for getting ideas, products and services out to millions of people. Having his expertise available in a live workshop, to set strategies, tactics and to make assessments of potential vendor offerings will be invaluable.

In addition, Ken McArthur has developed a global network of partners through his live marketing events with some of the most influential marketers and Internet experts in the world that will be invaluable connections for your future.
